

Concentration of media ownership is bad for democracy. The only change in media ownership rules you should be considering is one that would reverse the trend towards media ownership consolidation.

It's a bad change. Don't do it.